PROSECUTION VERSION

If this case were to proceed to trial, the United States would prove the following facts beyond a reasonable doubt:

On about November 30, 2018, a law enforcement officer stopped a vehicle in York County, Maine. Defendant was the passenger in this vehicle. During the stop, law enforcement learned that Defendant was in possession of narcotics. Defendant subsequently relinquished a substance consistent in appearance with cocaine base to law enforcement officers. A trained and experienced law enforcement officer would testify that the seized quantity is consistent with further distribution and inconsistent with personal use.

A laboratory confirmed the presence of cocaine base in the seized substance.
